2 The Publication Matrix

Once in the system you will see a list of publications that have been entered into the system. Publications that require your attention will be flagged with a blue or green tag and be near the top of the list. You can view further details on each publication by clicking the publication's title. The publication title will link you to the publication details.

3 Viewing a Publication (and creating a review)

As a Steering or P&P Committee member, you can leave comments and approve or deny a publication. Next to your name on the publication details page, you will see a link that says "Create Review". Clicking this will open a text field where you can enter your comments, and if you are on the Steering Committee, it will let you enter your writing group nomination. Once you are satisfied with your review, you can click "Save Review".

4 Receiving Emails

Occasionally you will receive an email from the CHAT Publication website. This email may typically instruct you to create a review for the publication. Just click the link, login, review the publication proposal, find your name, and select "Create Review".
